Breed Theatre. The charming and strikingly appealing personality of Hazel Dawn once more graces the screen in the Associated Producers' production, "Devotion," which will be shown at the Breed theatre today. Miss Dawn gives a superb performance and the street of the st ance as the young woman who devouted-ly clings to her better half, despite all

There are moments in this tense screen drama, which teaches that they who "believeth all things, heneth all things and endureth all things," shall forever derive happiness in abundance, that tug-ged the heart strings. To portray a young wife's abiding love in her husband gradually torn to shreds by a money-crazed sister, demanded an unusual amount of emotional ability, and Miss Dawn rises to these moments with commanding power.

Also included in the production Also included in the production are scenes showing the Prince of Wales, surrounded by a group of society people, witnessing the Horse Show at Madison Square Garden, and of striking beauty is the swimming pool which is said to be a part of the Pennsylvania hotel, New York. These features of the picture-play serve to blend harmoniously with the excellent work of the artifactory.

Other pictures on the bill include the Pathe News and a Mermald comedy ti-tled "April Fool."

Who that saw "Get-Rich-Outck Wallineford" will ever forget Hale Hamilton Chester wrote his inimitable stories, and when George M. Cohan later gave them to the stage, they must have had in acter with American audiences.

With the passing of the Wallingford play, Hamilton found it difficult to find another role to fit his personality well. He appeared with success in variety of parts, but they suffered in comparison with the classic that he had made of J. Rufus. Finally the plotures claimed him. He maintained his repu-tation for consistently fine acting in a number of screen productions, but he as being more than a substitute for the art of the spoken drama. He yearned for part of Wallingford quality, Mr. Ham llton decided to write his own play. Lu-ther Reed, a New York newhpaper man, collaborated with him, and the result was "Dear Me," a splendid play of laughs and heart-throbs which John Golden produced last season. With Grace LaRue co-starring with Mr. Hamilton, it ran for six months at the Republic theatre, New
